

Evangelistic Harvest Services in Brazil

Local political election tensions in Recife, Brazil, caused our November crusade to be cancelled. The Lord helped us regroup at the last minute and schedule one day evangelistic harvest services in eleven different churches that had planned on participating in the crusade. The services were conducted in churches from several different denominational backgrounds including Baptist, Assembly of God, Presbyterian, Pentecostal, and non-denominational congregations. Almost all of the services were packed with people, and God poured out His Spirit as we lifted up Jesus Christ and shared His gospel. Each night a large group of people came forward publicly at the invitation to be saved, rededicate their lives, commit to ministry service, and seek the healing and cleansing that only Jesus Christ can offer. Each time someone came forward for salvation the church crowd would spontaneously erupt in applause, cheering, and praise to God. In the United States, only at sporting events have I witnessed people reacting with such unrestrained excitement and celebration. It was awesome to be where God was working in such a powerful way, and it was encouraging to see the church of Jesus Christ more excited about people being saved than their favorite sports team scoring points.

Helping Church Planters in Brazil

During my recent evangelistic outreach in Brazil, I traveled to a remote mission site where a new church had been planted. The mother church in Recife, Brazil, has identified 23 small villages in this remote geographical area which have no Christian church. Currently they are supporting one missionary family that started the mission church I visited. I was able to preach at the mission church and gain firsthand knowledge of the spiritual needs in this unchurched area of Brazil. Another missionary family, ready to serve in this area but lacking funding for adequate housing, traveled with us. While there, I was able to secure and pay the first year's rent for a house in which they can both live and start a church, allowing them to move to this unchurched village soon and begin their ministry. Thank you for helping us spread the gospel in the uttermost parts of Brazil.

Merry Christmas
