

In September the Lord allowed us to conduct the most creative and cutting edge evangelistic outreach we have ever been a part of. A year ago a friend of mine in Romania told me about a well-known secular music group in Romania called Proconsul, that had several members who had been saved. We contacted the group and began dialoging with them about partnering with Uttermost Evangelism to hold an evangelistic outreach in one of the largest cities in Romania. We rented the Dramatic Theater in downtown Brasov, where all the professional concerts and cultural events are held. We promoted the special event with posters, hand-outs, and on secular radio stations. The event was free to the public but people had to reserve the number of seats they needed. The Lord blessed us with a large predominately secular crowd that enjoyed great professional music and testimonies from the lead group members. During the evening I shared the gospel and challenged those present to place a personal faith in Jesus Christ. We ended the evening by distributing copies of my Salvation book in the Romanian language to everyone in attendance along with invitations to join us and Proconsul for church the next morning. A ministry friend of mine in Brasov said this event was probably the largest outreach to lost people ever attempted in Brasov. We thank the Lord for blessing the ministry event and drawing people to Himself for salvation.

Two Decades of Ministry in Romania

In 1995 I traveled to Romania on my first international mission trip. I preached in a small church that was meeting in a house in a residential neighborhood in Brasov, Romania. The next year I returned to Romania and again preached at Speranta Baptist Church Brasov. The church family and our mission team members traveled to an empty lot at one of the major intersections entering the city and prayed that the Lord would allow the church to build on that property. In 1997 our family moved to Romania as full-time missionaries, and I watched as the Lord and the members of Speranta worked tirelessly to build a large, beautiful church facility on that property. I was one of the first people to preach in the newly completed sanctuary. The current associate pastor was a young unmarried member who translated for me. The present pastor of Speranta was a youth in the church youth group when I first ministered there. It was such a blessing while we were in Romania last month to conduct an evangelistic outreach in Speranta Church with these brothers in Christ who have matured into great men of God. The Lord is truly allowing us to reap spiritual fruit from decades of continuous ministry and relationship building in Romania.
