

BENDECIDOS PARA BENDECIR

Expanding Crusades in Argentina

In 2024, we conducted our first crusade in Argentina in a suburb of Buenos Aires. This fall we were blessed to return to Argentina and conduct two more crusades. We were able to target another bedroom community around the vast city of Buenos Aires and travel to the beautiful Patagonia region to conduct a second crusade in Neuquen. Despite the threat of rain at both crusades, we still had good attendance and many people committed their lives to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. One night at each crusade had to be moved to an alternate inside venue, but the rest of the services were able to be held outside at the intended locations. In Patagonia, the Lord also allowed us to conduct a conference for pastors and church leaders. The pastors in this region showed interest in helping us host more crusades in the future. We were also able to distribute my "Salvation" book in the Spanish language at all of the outreaches in Argentina. We are excited about the opportunity to continue to saturate Argentina with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Back in Bolivia For Another Crusade

The Lord has continued to strengthen our ministry partnership with Bolivian pastors and churches through another successful evangelistic crusade. Our main contact, Pastor Marcos Navarro, is a Brazilian who has served for 30 years as a missionary in Bolivia. Pastor Marcos, an extremely effective church planter, has started many churches which are now thriving in Bolivia. In addition, he has, for several years, served on a national level as vice president for his denomination. God has used my friendship and partnership with Pastor Marcos to open many doors for crusades and other evangelistic outreaches not only in Bolivia but also in other South American countries. While there, in addition to conducting another crusade and another pastors' conference, I also received invitations to speak in local high schools. During these events, we saw many people give their lives publicly to Jesus Christ. The strong partnership we have with local Bolivian pastors and churches will ensure these new converts receive follow up, and many will become faithful members in these vibrant congregations.

Crusade in Maua, Brazil

Maua, Brazil, a city of 500,000 people, is a part of the metropolitan area of São Paulo, Brazil. In September, for the fifth year in a row, I partnered with local churches to conduct a crusade in this vast megalopolis. We were in a totally new area in a local public park, and although the crusade platform was under a large pavilion, people not only gathered under the pavilion, but also stood throughout the park listening to the music and preaching.
